Key observations

1 page to review

Preferred page versions

These settings can be intentional. The crawl does not establish whether Google lists a page.

Next step: Tell your website provider which offers should be found in search. Have them check these settings before changing anything.

Missing search descriptions

Clear wording can help people distinguish your offers. Search engines may choose different text.

Next step: Review whether these pages belong with the current offers before editing descriptions. Confirm their purpose with the owner; retain intentional archives.

Missing main headings

Headings help visitors and screen-reader users understand the offer. These observations do not prove a ranking problem.

Next step: Ask your editor to check the affected pages. Make the main offer clear and arrange headings in a useful reading order.
